Developing the Workforce for the Future

Meeting objectives

- Nominate Workstream Leads and form the initial Workstream Teams
- Agree on the deliverables and timeframes for the Workstreams
- Initiate Workstream activities and build the overall workplan
- Exchange information and experiences among participants

GAAST/1 – Workstream sessions

Workstream working sessions (Days 2 & 3)

Main objectives

- Nominate a Workstream Lead (who will lead the work and join the Steering Group)
- Review, finalise and agree on the work packages that have been developed by the Steering Group
- Develop an initial roadmap and/or work plan for delivery of the work packages
- Identify the need for additional participants not already registered for the Workstream
- Start working on the initial deliverables
- Prepare a report back to the plenary, on day 4

Logistics

- In principle, the Workstreams will aim to meet in person only.
- Depending on participation, some virtual or hybrid connectivity may be provided (to be confirmed)

Invite others in your network to join the GAAST

How to entice your contacts?

- Meet Amazing People: You'll get to network with top industry leaders, passionate educators, and forward-thinking policymakers from all over the globe.
- Dive Deep into Important Topics: We're talking everything from skill gaps and the impact of technology to making our industry more inclusive and preparing for the future of work.
- Make a Real Impact: Your insights and experiences could help shape action plans that'll guide the future of aviation and aerospace.
- Broaden Your Horizons: This is a fantastic opportunity to see what's happening on the global stage and how it can benefit your work back home.

This meeting isn't just another event in the calendar—it's a starting point for meaningful change, and your voice is crucial to the conversation. We're putting together a dynamic agenda that promises to be as engaging as it is insightful.
